Ralph Woods, former deputy internal revenue collector, was the Richmond Pyramide of Scioots at its meeting last night in the Richmond elocution house. He succeeded Everett Lambrecht.

On Wood's staff will be Jack Bodin, senior vice commander; C. C. Kratzar, board of directors; J. E. Robbins, delegate to Allied Council; and W. J. Avery, delegate to the East Bay Victory Council.

Plans for approaching events were discussed by the veterans with W. J. Avery presiding over the session. Installation will be held early in January.

An important business meeting will be held by the organization on December 15, it was stated.

Nation Warned to Retain Its 'Sound Money'

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—UP—The nation must hold to sound money "in the interest of the widows, orphans, working men, clerks and small people," Col. Theodore Roosevelt, former governor general of the Philippines, said tonight in an address before the Civic Forum at Town Hall.

"Inflation is confiscation, nothing more or less," Roosevelt warned. "By debasing the currency you take part of the possessions of anyone who has saved money and has it in a bank or who holds bonds. You take it as directly as if you removed it physically."

The National administration's monetary policy, "as things stand today" has depreciated the gold value of the nation's $24,000,000,000 savings account approximately one-third, Roosevelt said.

Volcano Eruption Reported in Alaska

DUTCH HARBOR, Alaska, Dec. 1—UP—Additional details of a purported eruption of the great Stikine volcano on the island of Kanaga were being sought today. The island is located on the outer end of the Aleutian island group and is 120 miles from the nearest wireless station at Atka Island.

Building Permits Here Total $10,248

Building permits issued here during the month of November totaled $10,248, according to City Building Inspector A. J. Hurley.

The month's total was almost twice that for November of 1932, Hurley stated. Last year $545 in permits were issued during November.

THE WEATHER

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA—Cloudy and unsettled Saturday and Sunday; probably rain on north coast Saturday and over north portion of state Sunday; local frost in south portion Saturday morning; increasing southerly wind offshore.

SAN FRANCISCO BAY REGION—Cloudy and unsettled Saturday and Sunday; probably rain Sunday; moderate temperature; moderate to fresh southerly winds.

Judge W. W. Callahan deferred passing sentence until a date to be given later.

Six deputies brought in the defendant. His hands handcuffed in front of him, Patterson walked into the court room solemnly, his eyes fixed on the floor. Just as he entered the door he licked his lips.

The jurors lined up in front of Judge Callahan and handed their verdict to Circuit Court Clerk J. H. Greene who read from it: "We find the defendant guilty as charged and fix the penalty at death."

Judge Callahan then adjourned court until tomorrow morning.

From the time the jury announced it was ready to report until adjournment, the judge allowed no one to leave the courtroom. The doors were closed.

Patterson was returned to jail to await sentence.

Patterson's second trial here last spring was the first held after the United States Supreme Court.

Oswald Brothers Dog Winner At Kennel Club

A clean sweep! That's how the Oswald Brothers' ace greyhounds responded in what likely will be their farewell appearance at El Cerrito Kennel club track Friday night in the classy Campus State Dancing Officer won in record time of 28.35 seconds, with El kennelmates Smoky Officer and Officer Dancer next in line. This leaves the El Cerrito track record between five greyhounds three of them owned by the Oswalds who plan a short trip to the East Coast soon.

Dangerous Dan, winner of the Thanksgiving Derby, will try to make it two in a row tonight in the Royal Stake meeting Peter P. O'Connor, Olympiad, Susie Warren, Happy Laddie and Midnight Dell over the 500ths mile course. Two other racing features tonight are the 500ths mile Shasta Derby and the Berkeley maturity, putting Carmen Careless, Traffic Laddie, Play Taker, Evening Starlight and In Memoriam.

Starting Monday all options will be sold on the newly enclosed mezzanine floor at El Cerrito track. Workmen are rushing construction to have the new section ready Monday.

Speaking Of Sports

LONDON, Dec 1 (UP)— This looks like Oxford's year in the inter-university contests with Cambridge. With early indications that the dark blues may win the boat race after losing ten, there are strong reasons for believing they will sweep the track and field events.

If they do, it will be principally due to United States athletes now at the university.

At least 13 old blues (former) are in residence, and are eligible to compete against Cambridge, both in the relay meet and the track and field meet. They include J. E. Lovelock, the New Zealand holder of the world's 100-yard dash record; C. P. Stayford, of Bodmin, England; Tony Clark, Gallant, and Maurice Marshall, of Texas and San Antonio, Tex.

GOVERNMENT WINS IN NRA ARRESTS

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec 1—The government won its first criminal prosecution for violation of an NRA code today when the proprietors of Herkules Gasoline Stations, Inc., entered a guilty plea in Brooklyn Federal Court. C. P. Stayford, of Bodmin, England, who created the first oil company to win by winning three events last March, the high and low hurdles and the high jump; N. P. Farnsworth, of Harvard, and Moe Levine, each were fined $200, York, who won the half-mile, Julius $100, who also assessed a $200 fine of $100 and Thruville, fine against their corporation.

Around The Sacks With The Bushers

CHARLES GLUM

Sunday's feature game in the local city winter league finds the undefeated Lambrecht's crossing bats with the Palace Markets on the North Seventh Street diamond. Both contestants will be keenly on edge as it is no secret that bad blood exists between the two names. The Palace Markets know that a decent Sunday will put them out of the race for second and half honors.

Whether or not a double header will be played to make up a postponed game is in store for the fans to know, but such may be the case if old Dame Rumor has her way.

Lambrecht's: Serdick, Martin, Amato, Montoya, Brendel, Martini, Euykendall, Le Gault, and Sam Arredondo.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, marching under an unexpected defeat from the Piggy-Wiggys, strike back at the also unlucky Old Folks. Both teams have yet to break into the win column during the second half. This game is scheduled for 2 p.m. at Seawright Field.

The Standard Feed & Fuel nine-second half favorites, take on the rejuvenated Piggy-Wiggys at El Cerrito. Manager Amato may send Walsh to the mound with either Crocker or Figueredo behind the plate.

Local bushers are wondering as to what has become of Fred Bietzel with Sunday afternoons. Old Freddie is almost as familiar to the players as the diamond itself. Perhaps, Freddie, sponsor of the Richmond Produce club, is planning a matrimonial journey soon.

Manuel Amato is a credit to local bushers. Of course, he is intent on winning but when his team is on the short end of the score he certainly takes it on the chin in good sportsmanship. His Standard Feed & Fuel team was an awful disappointment in the first half race in the Richmond Winter League but their showing produced two American candidates for places on the team. They were Robert Minzey Brown of Stanford, and Wilson H. Elkins, of University of Texas and San Antonio, Tex.

Mike Dolan, sometimes a pitcher, sometimes a first baseman or what have you, with the Veterans of Foreign Wars, points the way for providing local fans with amusement. Mike's clever antics keep the fans howling from morning to night. He just about talked the Palace Markets out of the first half honors when his slow and slower ones tantalized the Markets into a 4 to 1 defeat.

Joe Viano, whose timely base hits kept the City Recreation club well up in the race in their Inter-County league will become a member of the Durkee Frogs in the same loop during the second half that chase.

It is possible for the enlistment of the Civil Works Projects men on public parks work to be beneficial to local bushers if a diamond could be installed on the Petes playground. This is a natural spot for a baseball diamond and with little work a first class grounds would be entirely possible. With fence surrounding the site, it would make a splendid mark for local batters to shoot at.

Carl Peterson and Fred Childs, Lawrence Phillips and Harry Carpenter, Irwin Sutton and Irwin Sutton vs. Paul Potts and Reese Hayes; W. Kibitz vs. Charlie Garabedian.

At the end of the first nine innings it was one up with a 42 to 41. Stamps, Gilroy professional, kicked goal. Parke completely roared St. Mary's in the fourth quarter when he made five yards on a reverse for the winning touchdown. St. Mary's scored in the third period when George Wilson punted over after George Canarius blocked a punt and ran to the Oregon 10. Jorgenson converted.

Mike Frankovich, U. C. L. A. quarterback, intercepted Phil Sarnoff's pass and ran 40 yards to the only touchdown against Washington State. Then he kicked a field goal.

Sterling defensive work prevented the northern team from scoring several times.

Shortly after the game Uclan officials announced that Coach Bill Spaulding had been given a new four year contract.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, in his first year at College of Pacific after long service at Chicago, ended a successful season when his Stockton team routed Fresno State college 42 to 0. Tom Wilson, halfback, was the ace of the Stagg men's attack.

University of Idaho did the expected in defeating Gonzaga university 20 to 12. Little Willis Smith, Idaho quarterback, led the sparkling play of his team. It was his last college game.

Oregon State's surprisingly decisive defeat by Nebraska 22 to 0, at Lincoln will make it a sad homecoming at Corvallis. A week ago the States celebrated a convincing victory over Fordham.

San Francisco bay region football fans will see only one game this weekend, a clash Sunday between the two Jesuit institutions, Santa Clara and San Francisco universities. The Santa Claraans are favored.

Portland Hurler Bought by Giants

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—UP—The New York Giants today announced purchase of Joe Bowman a pitcher from the Portland, Ore. club of the Pacific Coast League.

A "large amount" of cash and infielder Gilert English were given in exchange. Bowman won 23 and lost 11 during the 1933 season.

TODAY-

BARRYMORE AT FOX THEATER ON SUNDAY

John Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Gloria Grahame, David Manners, Robert Montgomery, and Myrna Loy from the movie are strong units in the film which intersects "Night Flight" the new Merle Oberon-Mary Martin picture opening tomorrow at the Fox theater.

The story is a terrifically powerful tale of flying the mail to night. Set in Asia. It was directed by George Cukor who holds a transport pilot license. Clarence Brown is from the men of Antoine de Saint-Exupéry, a pilot on the very line he wrote about.

Other action characters are fully developed scenes of flying managed by the airline. Clark Gable, who is the most popular pilot from "Twelve O'Clock High," is the only real star of the picture, and looks quite good and photogenic. The direction of Director John Ford is the best, and crew workers alone provided most of the characters.

To be in with Reid said, it took 34 miles all day to haul the sand truck over the deep sand to where the timer was built. Everything transported on sleds.

Temperature above the degree was not ordinary. One day it was 117 and five men suffered sunstroke. On a single day the crew were scattered under threatening clouds, while the two Barrymores, Myrna Loy and a actress are his two agents for the front messages of Gable's plane of course, and with only a few minutes of shooting left.

QUIETLY WED
AT CEREMONY

'Prophet'

W. E. Richmond, 1903 Roosevelt avenue, claimed as his bride Miss Patricia Siemon, 5517 Barrett avenue, on Thursday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. M. Blish.

The bride was pretty in a dress of green silk crepe and she carried a bride's bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. A Thanksgiving dinner, to which a few close friends were bidden, followed the ceremony.

The couple are now honeymooning at Twain-Hart for a few days, and upon their return will reside at Tenth street and Nevins avenue.

Both principals are popular among the younger set. Both graduated from the Richmond schools and also attended the University of California. Richmond is now employed at the Standard Oil company, and his bride is a student at San Francisco Teachers' college.

Richmond is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Richmond of 1903 Roosevelt avenue, pioneer Richmond residents, and his bride is the daughter of Mrs. Claus Anderson of 5517 Barrett avenue.

MRS. WOOD
WILL HEAD
LOCAL LODGE

Mrs. Grace Wood was elected noble grand of the Richmond Lodge of Rebekahs last night at a meeting in L. O. O. F. temple.

Other officers named were Miss May Davis, vice noble grand; Mrs. Margaret A. Shea, recording secretary; Mrs. Mable F. Chapman, financial secretary; Mary L. Bonham, treasurer; and Alice Conner, trustee.

Officers will be installed along with the officers of the Odd Fellows and Zephyr Rebekahs some time in January.

Mrs. Grace Wood presided last night over the business meeting, which was followed by a banquet served under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Meadman.

Mrs. Minnie Phillips was named as a member of the social committee for the next meeting night.

Food in the Stomach, And How Digestion Takes Place

ONLY after the food reaches the stomach can the elaborate task of mixing and breaking down the food particles begin. If we want this part of the process to proceed comfortably and result successfully, we should pay much more attention to the first part than we usually do. It is not enough that food should be carefully selected and well prepared. We should consider what we expect it to do. If we intend to loll about and take it easy for the day before us, there is no point in consuming a great amount of food. But if we have a stiff job ahead, then nourishment must be provided accordingly.

AS THE stomach goes into action, its walls expand and contract rhythmically, churning food back and forth so that it becomes thoroughly mixed with the gastric juice and every portion of it comes in contact with the stomach wall. The digestive juices seep from the walls of the stomach to mix with all food particles. The principal ingredients of gastric juice are hydrochloric acid and pepsin. Here the proteins are broken up as the gastric juice breaks up the enveloping connective tissue of the cells; sugars are transformed into glucose and fructose. The fat globules are disseminated so that the juice can mix with them.

AFTER the stomach contents are well mixed and churned and impregnated with gastric juice, the constrictor muscles at the lower end of the stomach, (the pyloric end) relax and some of the chyme from the stomach are poured into the duodenum or upper portion of the intestine where it is mixed with the secretions from the pancreas and liver which empty into the bowel at this point. The acid contents of the stomach enter the duodenum which is alkaline, the chemical stimulation probably excites the pancreas to throw out its juice which is also alkaline to overcome the acid contents coming from the stomach.

THE liver and gall bladder provide bile which also joins the pancreatic juice to further reduce the carbo-hydrates and sugars into glucose and break up the fats. This renders them more soluble and enables them to mix more readily with the water in the blood. Each step in digestion is designed to soften and break up all kinds of food, making them more soluble and liquid and thus to promote their absorption. Each step in the process follows in regular order the previous one, and is probably to a great extent governed by chemical stimulation as well as by nervous reflexes.

UNTIL the food passes out of the duodenum and into the upper ileum, or the small intestine, very little absorption of food elements has taken place. The mouth, stomach, and duodenum by the aid of the pancreas and liver have thrown out secretions which have softened the fibre and tendons and connective tissues of meats, also the cellular coating of vegetables and roots. They have broken up the globules of fat and oils and held them in either solution or suspension. This rendered them more liquid, so they could be more readily acted on by the intestinal juice or "succus entericus." Actual absorption or digestion takes place in the small intestine. This will be considered tomorrow.

QUESTION: "What is the principle of the many kinds of 'biters' advertised for stomach disorders?"—A. H."

ANSWER: Usually the larger portion is alcohol, which warms and stimulates the organs. Usually some cathartic is added to help in elimination. The benefits, if any, may be only temporary, but the bitter element stimulates the flow of gastric juice.

The Rusted Sink

To remove rust stains on a sink, make a solution of three tablespoons of oxalic acid and two quarts of water. Stop up the sink and let this mixture stand in it for one hour. Then drain and rinse with cold water. Every stain will be removed. Use the oxalic acid with care as it is a poison.

If the high finish has been taken off, there is no way to restore it.

FACIAL CARE WHEN WINTER WINDS BLOW

By JACQUELINE HUNT

WHETHER you go in for winter sports, or limit your outdoor exercise to brisk walks to the station or on shopping tours, you must always be a jump ahead of the damaging effects of the wind and snow might have on your skin. This is one place where there is no doubt that an ounce of prevention is worth more than a pound of cure. You know what happens when you are sitting in the cold winds, so be prepared for it.

The cold and wind dries the natural oils from your skin and hastens the sloughing off of the dry, dead skin cells. This may lead to chapping and irritation, and it causes the skin to wrinkle more easily. Make-up doesn't adhere properly on the too-dry skin, with the result that noses become red and shiny and your lipstick cakes most unattractively. Unless you pamper your skin with an occasional oil or oil for the next few months.

The weather is not the only enemy of your skin. Hot, stuffy rooms devoid of moisture also tend to dry out your skin, so you should make a softening, oil-replenishing treatment a part of each day's beauty ritual. If you will be faithful about these treatments, it will not be difficult to look your best and feel your best. You know how hard it is to be happy and self-confident when you know you are not looking up to par.

Winter not only brings a change in beauty routines, but in cosmetics. For cleansing, use light creams that melt on touching your skin, or use oils. Muscle oils or special facial oils, followed by a richer, heavier cream are best for softening. The vanishing creams and powder lotions that were so nice during the summer are too drying now, and in place of them you must use oily foundations, unless your skin naturally tends to be very oily.

Every night, before retiring, literally bathe the skin with a quick-melting cleansing cream or oil. Allow it to remain on the skin until it is liquefied, and then remove with cleansing tissue. Now fill your wash basin with warm water and add a few drops of tincture of benzoin, then drop in your cake of soap and work up a good lather. Use for cleansing; it is gentler and more soothing than the ordinary soap and water-cleansing. Rinse with tepid and then cold water to remove all of the soap, and dry with a soft tissue or old towel.

Now apply a good oil or a soft, rich cream made from melting together equal parts of toilet lanoline, cocoa butter and olive oil. Apply liberally over your face, throat, chest and shoulders and massaging, using light upward pats and strokes. This stimulates the circulation and warms the skin, causing it to absorb the oil more readily. As soon as the oil disappears, apply more.

Dip your wash cloth in comfortably warm water and hold this over your face and neck. The moisture and the additional warmth relaxes the pores and softens the leathery surface of the skin so more oil is absorbed. Repeat two or three times until your skin glows and feels soft and smooth to the touch. Then rinse with cold water and dry thoroughly.

Always use a paste rouge during the cold weather, even though you prefer a powder or liquid rouge at other times. If the paste rouge doesn't blend as easily as you wish, try mixing it with a little cream, using it like a paint on your hand like a palette. You will find it more easy to apply this way. Be sure to use a soft, creamy lipstick and give your lips extra oil every day in the form of camphor ice or a healing, softening pomade.

TO ENTERTAIN AT BREAKFAST

By JUDITH WILSON

BREAKFASTS, followed by bridge or other games, are becoming an increasingly popular means of entertaining. The ideal time for a breakfast party is on a Sunday morning or a holiday when there is no hurry or confusion and the homemaker can find time to do the little extras that make a meal truly enjoyable.

Set the hour anywhere between ten and twelve—possibly a little later if you know that your guests are early risers and will have a morning snack at home. For cleansing, it is gentler and more soothing than the ordinary soap and water-cleansing. Rinse with tepid and then cold water to remove all of the soap, and dry with a soft tissue or old towel.

Now apply a good oil or a soft, rich cream made from melting together equal parts of toilet lanoline, cocoa butter and olive oil. New York—Women are determined to remain youthful and clad. It's the youngsters who go in for trains and stars in their hair and other evening fantasies. It's the youngsters, too, who are most determined to have curves and to make the most of them.

The Simple Things

It is reassuring to read in the latest reports of smart fashions worn here, there and everywhere there are smart women that the pendulum is swinging toward simpler things. Not that elegance is out, quite the reverse, but that elegance must be simple to be really elegant.

Braces are a law unto themselves. Most of them like period fashions and "adore" being as bride as possible, but there are some who want to look natural and who want to get some good out of their bridal finery afterward. Thus is a year of convertible effects—jackets, caps and whatnots, some detachable, are a big help.

Basque Bridal Dress

At most of the smart weddings of the last few days, dresses have been made on the Basque type, with or without a collar. Skirts have, of course, been long, and to have the skirts, the train being cut in one with the dress, after the approved manner of the '90s.

Your modern bride seems to have enough about upholding tradition, until it comes to the veil and there she seems to go right in doing the unusual. Note the following arrangement of many veils, ruffled edges, or with pleated ruffles, things of that character instead of the stately, high-thrown-up variety.

The third idea, also round, is of braided leather and the metal fastener, consisting of three metal belts in graduated sizes, reflecting the circular idea.

PERIODIC STATEMENT BARRAGES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—(P)—The administration, plunging into its last month of unrestricted action before Congress meets, met its critics today with another of its periodic barrages of announcements of progress and plans.

White, treasury, agriculture and state department officials combined to jam through a liquor program to meet repeal next Tuesday, the NRA made it evident that a program to speed the modification of the minority of industry not yet under wage and hour agreements would be pressed.

The relief administration refuted attacks upon its work by claiming that 2,000,000 men had been put to work under the new civil works program, and announcing new plans for relief for the needy.

The price of gold was advanced to above $34 an ounce for the first time, as the policy of cheapening the dollar through gold regulation was pressed forward in the face of criticism.

Secretary of interior Ickes announced allotment of $26,543,653 of public works funds for 71 non-federal projects in 25 states and Hawaii.

The Home Owners Loan corporation reported tentative approval of a total of 160,425 loans amounting $45,725,650, and added that it had reached a rate of more than $8,000,000 a week in completing loans to save small urban homes.

Reverend Administrator Hugh S. Johnson said the President's reemployment agreement, scheduled to expire Dec. 31, would be extended for industries unable to compete codes by that time, but added that he would impose codes arbitrarily on the telephone and aluminum industries if they did not reach agreements soon. The inference was that other industries also would be expected to rush their agreements if they wanted to avoid arbitrary codes.

Johnson denied daily reports of disagreements with Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of Interior Ickes, and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Simultaneously Edward F. McGrory, assistant NRA administrator for labor, denied that the American Federation of Labor planned a fight against the NRA in Congress.

The Federal Relief Administration statement of its activities was a direct reply to an attack by Alfred E. Smith in the New Outlook magazine. Secretary Ickes charged yesterday that the attack was that of a "disappointment office seeker." Hopkins answered today with

Jailer Hurt in Attempted Prison Escape

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 1—(UPI)—Struck on the head with an improvised blackjack, W. C. Walpert, Lewis county jailer was suffering severe head injuries today following an attempted escape by two men.

The break was thwarted by Sheriff J. A. Blaukenship who headed the men back to their cells before they could leave the building. Serious or a woman employee in his office led him to investigate and discover the escape attempt.

HOGAN, according to his story and statements by his sister-in-law Mrs. Adele Hogan, 28, and her brother, Lewis Spencer, 56, Capp street, San Francisco, was shot Wednesday night when Hogan and his sister-in-law struggled for the possession of a .22 calibre rifle.

Mrs. Hogan had picked up the rifle, officers were told, to fire a shot to welcome Thanksgiving. Her brother-in-law advised against it and when he sought to get possession of the gun a friendly tussle was declared to have ensued in which the weapon was discharged.

Mrs. Hogan and her brother carried the wounded man to an automobile and hurried him to Walnut Creek for medical attention. He was later brought to the hospital at Martinez.

To investigating officers, Constable Clyde Laird and Deputy Sheriffs J. M. Joseph and George Henderson, all three characterized the shooting as accidental.

Mrs. Hogan's husband, Jack Hogan, is chauffeur for a wealthy San Franciscan. He was located at Santa Barbara and came here by train.

The wounded man had obtained work this week at Crockett on a highway project.

HARRY HOGAN IS INJURED IN GUN TUSSLE

As the aftermath of a Thanksgiving eve party at a Clayton Valley home observing his employment after a long period of time. Harry Hogan, 47, is in the county hospital here today in serious condition with a bullet wound directly beneath his heart.

RAPS ROLPH FOR STAND ON LYNCHING

saying in Sacramento that the captain visited him "over the lynching begging me to reappoint him."

DISMISSED DEMANDED

"I did not go to Sacramento begging reappointment," said Rev. Kelley. "I made two trips there. On November 23 I asked the governor if he intended to reappoint me. He wouldn't say yes or no, but took me to William A. Smith, his secretary.

"They both demanded that I remove Dr. Gresham as secretary to the commission. I could hardly believe my ears. I told them he couldn't be removed except for cause."

"Make a cause and get that fellow out," Mr. Smith ordered me in the governor's presence.

"I went back November 28 to see if they really wanted me to do a thing like that. They withdrew from their position, however. Mr. Smith explaining it couldn't be done."

"On the second trip I said nothing about the commissionership. I knew my term was up. I requested to express my disapproval of the governor. He knows I don't believe in the official family."

Smith issued a reply to Rev. Kelley's charges. He said the minister was asked six months ago not to reappoint Gresham as the commission's secretary because two bad and two other bad."

WANTED THE JOB

"Rev. Kelley told me Gresham was appointed because somebody said something in the Governor's office went down. That's not true and I told him he shouldn't say it to the governor or my office take action on such matters."

Smith said that perhaps Rev. Kelley "didn't ask for reappointment but he certainly talked about it."

Rev. Kelley attacked administration policies on matters other than sports.

He charged that Governor Ralph "wrecked the Whittier state school for boys." When the governor removed Kenneth Scudder as head of the Whittier school about two years ago, the minister said his enthusiasm for Ralph began to wane.

THERE'S THE BOSS

Rev. Kelley said that on his fast trip to Sacramento Governor Rolph pointed to an Oakland contractor in his office, a man who had said he would get the chaplain off the commission and said: "There's the boss."

Police Battle Off Strikers In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1—A force of 350 police, including a tear gas squad, today repulsed an effort of more than 500 striking longshoremen to break through lines drawn around a vessel being unloaded at its pier by non-union men.

The strikers contented themselves for the time being with hurling demands to the non-union longshoremen to "get off that ship."
